

Technical writing and Communications Systems 0904405

An introduction to technical writing as both a field and a career. The basic techniques of writing for technical and corporate industries: business communications, functional description, process writing, basic document format, technical vocabulary, and accurate editing