

Zarqa University
Faculty of Educational Science
Department of Library and Information Science

No. 0512321

Knowledge Management

(3 c.h)

This course is intended to introduce students to the concepts of knowledge and its management, required components for knowledge management, the importance of knowledge management for both individuals and institutions. Fields of knowledge management. The purpose of the applications of knowledge management. comparing between knowledge management and information management in libraries and information centers.