

Zarqa University
Faculty of Educational Science
Department of Library and Information Science

Applications of Computers in Libraries and Information Centers

No. 0512440

3 C.H.

This course is intended to foster the advanced applications of computers in acquisition, cataloguing, classification, indexing, and user services. Use of electronic tools required for technical operations. Provide students with the necessary skills to use WINISIS effectively, and operate integrated software, such as M2L and Horizon.